

Bougainville

"Our Island, Our Fight"

This is the rare story of an indigenous people successfully taking up arms against the ecological devastation of their lands by a multinational mining company and the government that stood to profit from it.

The only documentary of the struggle for independence on the island of Bougainville, this multi award winning documentary smuggles us into the world of this besieged people.

Cut from all humanitarian aid and invisible to their resolve to fight for independence to preserve their culture and environment.

"...one of Australia's most successful and critically acclaimed documentaries in recent years."
